Female entrepreneurs open pet care business

Whiskers and Leo Pet Care, an independent professional pet sitting service currently operating in Staten Island, N.Y., announced last week its expansion into Hudson County, N.J. Owners Loni Rudolph and Nicole Romagnolo, previous owners of the franchise Fetch! Pet Care, combined their professional business savvy with their passion for family pets to bring their successful business across the Hudson to launch Whiskers and Leo Pet Care in Hoboken, Jersey City, and Weehawken. Named after their own lovable pets, Whiskers and Leo provides dog walking, pet sitting and multiple other services 24/7 to its furry clients.

Rudolph and Romagnolo acted on the demand for a reputable and reliable pet care alternative to kennel boarding.
